TAMMANY BORS SEEKING TO DEFER MEETING OF STATE COMMITTEE-TO AWAIT REPUB-LICAN ACTION ON DATE OF STATE CONVENTION.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TELEVISE.] Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 7.-Richard Croker was ousy here to-day, it was reported to-night, trying to prevent a meeting of the Democratic State Committee on August 11. All day, it is said, Croker was attempting to get into communication with Elliot Danforth, chairman of that committee, with the aim of persuading him to abandon the thought of having the committee meet here next Thursday. The call for the meeting of the committee has not yet been issued. and therefore Croker may possibly succeed in his project.

Croker's object, in seeking to secure a postponement of the committee meeting is to gain time to gain control of it and defeat David B. Hill's plans to guide it in his interest. His ostensible reason, however, is that the Republican State Committee has not yet met and named a day for the holding of the Republican State Convention, and that it is to the interest of the Democratic party to postpone its State Convention until after the Republican pary has held its convention. This holding of the Democratic State Convention at a later date than the Republican State Convention might not be obtelned, he argues, if the Democratic State Committee should now name the late for the Democratic delegates to meet, as the Republican State Committee might then meet and name a later

All of Croker's followers were saying to-day that the Republican State ticket and platform ought to be known before the Democratic State Convention should meet, and thus some advantage of position be gained. If the Republican State Convention should be held on September 27, as it is now believed it will be held, the Democratic State Convention would be held on October 4, and a platform directly the opposite to that of the Republicans would be adopted. HOPING TO HEAD OFF HILL.

Croker's haste to head off the meeting of the Democratic State Committee induces people to think that he had received information of some design by David B. Hill to have the committee meet and name an earlier date than October 4 for the assembling of the Democratic State Convention. But Mr. Croker, in the judgment of nost politicians, is needlessly alarmed. Elliot Denforth is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, and he will not be likely to antagonize the entire Tammany Hall delegation by calling together the Democratic State Committee and pushing to fruition any of David B. Hill's plans to have an "early convention." Mr. Danforth is also seeking David B. Hill's support, but, nevertheless, he would not accede to any of his suggestions which would involve him in a quarrel with Croker, and also, undoubtedly, with Senator Edward Croker was the political lion of the day in Saratoga to-day. Clad in an English gray plaid suit of clothes and a brown English derby, he was early observed to be walking in the big grassy courtyard of the Grand Union Hotel. Later in the morning he took a ride with John I. Scannell, Fire Commissioner, behind a pair of fine horses. All the Tammany chieftains now seem to possess coachmen in livery and magnificent horses, and carriages of the costliest description. The "poverty" of the Strong ad-ministration period has swiftly passed away.

This afternoon there was to have been a conference of Mr. Croker and his followers at Moon's restaurant, at Saratoga Lake, but the "Boss," It was reported, had a headache, and 1id not go to the lake. His lieutenants, however, took their coachmen and superb horses and carriages to Moon's and enjoyed the day. Among those who thus went to Moon's was Sorporation Counsel John Whalen, Fire Comnissioner Scannell, John F. Carroll, Senator Thomas Francis Grady, and John Fox, ex-Fire Commissioner. Augustus Van Wyck, Judge of the Supreme Court, went down to the lake on Croker had cemained in Saratoga to have a rivate conference with James Shevlin, the chief ieutenant here of Hugh McLaughlin, the Demoratic "Boss" of Brooklyn; Senator McCarren and John L. Shea, Bridge Commissioner, two other of McLaughlin's lieutenants, also renained here in Saratoga, instead of going to Moon's.

It may be remarked that it was stated here co-day that David B. Hill is now seeking the society of Hugh McLaughlin, and may be at famesport to-day. Mr. Hill is as anxious as Mr. Croker to obtain the powerful assistance heless. McLaughlin's lieutenants here frankly nade the following statement to-day: "We are mited politically now with the Tammany Hail Democrats, and therefore must seek to live in hat the Kings County Democrats, after a period of negotiation with Croker, are likely to assist him in his contest with Hill, and espetally in the naming of the Democratic candimay that they believed Hill and Croker would each some agreement on a Democratic cantidate for Governor, and that there would be no sontest between them over the matter. But his seems an iil-founded hope. All of Croker's proceedings now are aggressive and are insended to crush Hill. Croker intends to name he Democratic candidate for Governor and put im under obligations to Tammany Hall. Hill, if he can accomplish it, will have no part in his nomination, but will be an outsider. The prospects of Democratic harmony, therefore, are not bright.

Mayor Van Wyck of New-York has sent word hat he will be here on Tuesday, and Mr. Croter has had rooms reserved for him at the Framd Union Hotel. Asa Bird Gardiner, the Frammany Hall District-Attorney, will arrive iere on Wednesday. Thus a large proportion of the Tammany Hall officials of the city of New-York will be here. A large proportion of he Kings County Democratic officials will also be here. each some agreement on a Democratic can-

Some of the Brooklyn Democrats here have nanifested opposition to the nomination of Mayor Van Wyck for Governor in an indirect way by saying: "Would it not be perilous to sominate Van Wyck for Governor and put the Mayor's office in jeopardy? For, if Van Wyck s elected Governor, there must be an election for Mayor of New-York in the fall of 1849."

The Tammany men in reply to this argument have said that Van Wyck's election as Jovernor would give such an impetus to the Democratic party that it would surely win igain the office of Mayor of New-York. "Beddes," said one Tammany Hall man. "Van Wyck as Governor would so strengthen Tammany Hall that it would be irresistible in New-York." This leaves out of account the Legisnany Hall that it would be irresistible in New-fork." This leaves out of account the Legis-ature, which will probably be Republican, and herefore not in the slightest degree inclined to pass bills in the interest of Tammany Hall. The interesting fact was disclosed to-day that tx-Governor Roswell P. Flower voted for the Democratic Presidential electors in 1896. He hus has kept his "regular" position in the Democratic party. Mr. Flower's friends point out that he fought Bryan bitterly, and that he miy voted for the Democratic electors when convinced that Bryan was defeated. It can be surmised that the disclosure of the interesting purmised that the disclosure of the interesting dreumstence that Mr. Flower did not desert the Democratic party in 1896 is made just at this ime, with the view of advancing his chances of seing nominated for Governor by the Democratic party this year. Mr. Flower's political riends in the Democratic party are probably nesting to bring about his nomination by recalling his record as Governor. Mr. Flower celebrated his sixty-third birthday to-day by giving a dinner to twenty-one relatives at James H. Riley's restaurant, on Saratoga Lake.

It was stated to-night that Senator Edward Murphy, jr., had decided not to come here to attend the conference of prominent Democrats who are gathering at Mr. Croker's bidding. Senator Murphy's plea is that he does not wish to leave his home at Long Branch. But evidently he doesn't wish to mingle in any scrimmage of Hill and Croker.

CANAL DEVELOPMENTS AWAITED.

The Tammany Hall leaders here are watching intently the developments at Albany in regard to the Canal Commissioners' report. Senator Grady said to-day: "If Governor Black does not remove George W. Aldridge, Superintendent of Public Works, we shall be able to make the management by Aldridge of the $9,000,000 canal appropriation the leading issue of the State campaign. I do not know but that we shall make the cann mismanagement the great issue, anyhow, but Mr. Black might possibly blunt something of the force of the attack by removing Aldridge, Yet even that action would be a confession that he made a gigantic error in ever appointing Aldridge, and I think twoters of the State would have something of a forcible nature to say on the subject. We also have the Force bill' issue, which, I think, will be useful. As for the soldiers, why they are going to vote against the Black administration in any case, and we need not trouble ourselves on that subject." Grady said to-day: "If Governor Black does on that subject."

The Tainmany Hall leaders have about decided to accept the three hundred appointments which will come to them under Governor Black's "Force bill," sometimes known as "The Net-York Elections bill." The patronage was, of course, not to be resisted. Nevertheless, Tammany Hall will denounce the "Force bill," and also will seek to have a plank put in the Democratic State platform assailing it. The excuse is given that Superintendent McCullagh's good faith should be tested in regard to the appointment of the Democratic Supervisors of Election. "If he rejects most of the deputies we nominate," said a Tammany Hall leader, "we shall have the remainder of our men resign."

THREE GOOD NOMINATIONS.

REPRESENTATIVES PAYNE, SHEEMAN AND HEN-

Washington, Aug. 7 (Special).-Among the Congress renominations of the week are three most excellent ones, and each is equivalent to re-election. Mr. Payne, of the XXVIIIth New-York district. who is serving his seventh term as a member of the House of Representatives, has won an enviable the House of Representatives, has won an enviable and influential position in that body, as well by his long experience as by his ability and industry, and the people of his district are to be congra-ulated on his renomination without opposition. He is not only chairman of the important Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, but is second in rank on Ways and Means, and is often called on preside as chairman of the Committee of the

Mr. Sherman, of the Utica district, who is serving his fifth term as a member of the House, is also a useful and influential member of the House is also a useful and influential member of that hody. As chairman of the Committee on Indian Affairs he has had to deal with a number of exceedingly diffi-cult and abstruce questions relating to Indian legiscult and absiruse questions relating to Indian legis-lation and administration, and has done so with re-merkable success. He is also an influential mem-ber of the Committee on interstate and Forcian Commerce. As chalfman of the Committee of the Whole Mr. Sherman has won a high and deserved reputation, not only by the feirness and intelligence of his partitionarity decisions, but on account of the celerity with which he dispatches legislative business.

the celerity with which he dispatches legislative business.

One of the veterans, and among the ablest and most influential members of the House of Representatives, is David R. Henderson, of the IIId lowa District, who has been renominated by acclamation to serve his minth term. Colonel Henderson is chairman of the Committee on the Judiciary, and deserves a large share of the credit for the bankruptcy legislation of the present tongress. He is also a member of the Committee on Rules, which has so much to do with shaping the course of legislation. He was long a leading member of the Committee on Appropriations, in the work of which he still retains a lively interest, work of which he still retains a lively interest, and there are few members of the House who and there are few members of the House who have a more thorough knowledge than he of the needs and requirements of the several branches of the public service.

SEARCH FOR LA BOURGOGNE DEAD.

FAILURE TO FIND THE BODIES SOUGHT BY THE EXPEDITION.

Hallfax, N. S., Aug. 7 (Special).-The steamer Hiawatha, which had been chartered by ex-Judge Dillon, of New-York, and John Perry, of Kansas City, to search for the bodies of members of their families, lost in the wreck of the French Line steamer La Bourgogne, staty miles south of Sable Island, on July 4, returned to Hallfax at 8 o'clock to-night. George S. Clay, who was in charge of the expedition, told of the quest at sea. sent out by Judge Dillon and Mr. Perry only after the French Line had flatly refused to send a steamer to make the search. The Hiewatha was at sea continuously since day, when she put into Canso, owing to a heavy squall. During all that time the steamer kept about the scene of the disaster and the points about the scene of the disaster and the points where floating bodies had been reported by passing steamers, maintaining a sharp lookout night and day. Although the expedition failed to find the bedies of Mrs. Dillon, her daughter, and the Perry family, thirty-one bedies in all were recovered, nineteen men, eight women and four boys, six of whom were sufficiently identified by papers and marks on the clothing.

Mr. Clay, in a signed statement, issued on his arrival here, gives a detailed description of each body found, and says that he is convinced that if the French Litae had sent out a steamer promptly when the bodies were first reported by the steamer Oilfield many could have been recovered and identified. The letters, papers and other evidences of identification are now in the hands of Mr. Clay, who will transmit them to friends interested.

The bodies identified were those of Eugene Dubost of Montreal; E. R. Rundell, of Chicago, Pedro J. Sesa, the Panama civil engineer; Marcell Gillint, of New-York ann Peter Barrett, of Philadelphia. The clothes of several wamen found contained marks, but not sufficient to identify the weaters. On the finger of one woman was a plain gold ring with the inscription "J. R. A., 31 Dec. 1887."

FIVE DROWNED NEAR PORTSMOUTH

A WOMAN AND FOUR CHILDREN LOSE THEIR LIVES ON THE PISCATAQUA RIVER.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 7 .- As a party, consist and Wolsang Geiger, his wife and two children, were coming down the Piscataqua River from they approached the Dover Point Bridge, forced their boat violently against the piling, breaking the craft in two and throwing all into the water. The cries of the unfortunate people were heard by James Drew, the draw-tender, and his assistants, who went to their ald and succeeded in rescuing the two men and Mrs. Green, but Mrs. Geiger and the four children were beyond reach and were drowned.

Green and Geiger both belong in this city, the former being employed on Frank Jones's farm, and Geiger as a laborer at Eldredge's brewery, Green's children were three and seven years old, and Geiger's about the same age, his wife being about forty. The rescued persons were brought here on a late train. their boat violently against the piling, breaking

Some Wholly New Stories And a New Chapter in an Old One

Relating to a Lot of Very Fine Banquet and Reception Lamps

THE seasons wax and wane through the lamp-maker's business calendar, as regularly as with the man who makes dress stuffs or matter not only of economies, but clothing. Perhaps you have thought that there was no "sea- This mov son" in such an all-the-year-round article as lamps. Had that been so, this lot of lamps would never be here except at about twice the prices for which you can buy them to-day. It being the fag-end of the lampmaker's season, several of them found themselves embarrassed with riches in the shape of their own finest goods, undisposed of. We relieved them of their goods and their embarrassment. Now we turn to you. In the finest goods, it's a half-price story, as you will note. Some are only a third off, but they are all cheap enough. They are in the 10th Street aisle, main floor, this morning, and they may last two days. All have center-draft burners, and all are complete with globes.

This movement is keeping wheels going that would otherwise be at a thousand names on factory payrolls that would otherwise be on the rolls of the unemployed. It is filling market-baskets, paying rents, buying clothes.

The expenditure of close to a half-million dollars at a time when things in furniture are dull to deadness, means something more than merely giving you bargains. But, after all, that may interest you most. So here is that end of the matter as applied to the item of Parlor Suits. We show 125 styles, and at no more than the cost of wood and wages.

MANHATTAN SECOND BEATEN AT PAT-ERSON.

The Manhattan Cricket Club of Brookin sent its second eleven to Paterson on Saturday to play the local club's crack team a championship game of the New-York Cricket Association. The visitors had a warm reception, and when Bunce and West got together the fielders had as pretty a leather chase as it has been their fortune to endure this season. Bunce put on 58 by fearless hitting; West played a triffe more carefully for

45, and Manhattan was eventually defeated by #8 runs and 3 wickets. The score follows: MANHATTAN SECON

The captains of the various association have borne out the good judgment displayed by their selection this year in a notable manner. The captains of most of the clubs excel in the batting averages of their teams as indicated by W. Bunce, of Paterson; S. B. Standfast, of Brooklyn, and W. Adam, of Manhattan. Adam, of Manhattan.

The latest mails from England give the standing of the counties for the championship as follows: First, Yorkshire, 10 points: second, Lancashire and Surrey, 4 points; fourth, Gloucestershire, 2 points; Essex, Kent, Notts and Middlesex follow in the order named, and Bussex and Leicestershire, ueither of which has won a game, are tied for last place. Yorkshire, which had not lost a game up to July 14, was then defeated by Kent in a remarkable game. The teams tied on the first innings at 188, but in the second Yorkshire was dismissed for 124, which Kent surpassed for the loss of four wickets, C. J. Burnut making 69, not out.
